

A Season for Thanksgiving and Hope

As one of the leaders in the effort to supply the ever-growing demand for organs and tissue in this country, I have seen firsthand the effect that the JRI material has had in the pilot programs, and can say with absolute certainty that there are people signed up to be organ donors (and who have made their decision clear to their loved ones) because of this initiative. The Coalition's members are extremely pleased with the positive results they are seeing. If we can continue to expand the use of these materials, we will help save more lives through transplantation.

Medical advances may one day create replacement organs for everyone who needs them. That day is a long way off. Today there are more people waiting for organs than ever. We are looking forward to the day when science will put us out of business. In the meantime, we still need your help to get our educational materials to an even larger audience in hopes of saving more lives.

 Last year, a record 24,110 lives were saved and an additional 900,000 lives were improved thanks to organ and tissue donations.

 80,000 men, women and children currently await life-saving transplants.

 By getting involved and raising awareness about organ and tissue donation, you can continue to help us save and improve even more lives!
